FROM SCIENCE TC FWF mandates ORCID for applications as of 2016

As announced in December 2014, the Austrian Science Fund FWF will mandate the use of an Open Researcher and Contributor ID (ORCID) as part of its grant application process. Starting from January 1st 2016 all scholars are asked to have an unique ORCID identifier, register requires only one minute at orcid.org.

Alinearse con otras estrategias internacionales

1. PLANNING

- Develop Data Management Plans and support researchers in their implementation
- Develop and provide tools for FAIR data management
- Help researchers to manage their personal identifiers (ORCID, ISNI)
- Provide information about research funding possibilities

4 DRUSING

RECOMMENDATION #8:

The European research system and Open Science Cloud should adopt ORCID as its preferred system of unique identifiers, and an ORCID iD should be mandatory for all applicants and participants in FP9. Unique identifiers for individuals and research works will gradually improve the robustness of metrics and reduce administrative burden. ORCID provides researchers with a unique ID and associates this ID with a regularly updated list of publications. It is already backed by a growing number of funders across Europe (<http://about.orcid.org/>). The EC and ERC should utilise ORCID IDs for grant applications, management and reporting platforms, and the benefits of ORCID need to be better communicated to researchers and other stakeholders (Galsworthy & McKee, 2013).

6. In the publication and opening up of the supporting research data, it is highly desirable that a number of standard identifiers/processes be used to help discoverability and re-use of open outputs – ORCID<sup>4</sup> to identify the authors; FundRef<sup>5</sup>, a common taxonomy of research funder names; DOIs<sup>6</sup> to identify and locate publications; DataCite<sup>7</sup> to identify and locate datasets; Open Citations<sup>8</sup>, a movement to promote the unrestricted availability of scholarly citation data, and to make these data available.

Bonus: No olvidar el papel de las bibliotecas

1) Usar los ORCID iDs para enriquecer los metadatos y en entornos de catalogación

3) Potenciar el uso de repositorios institucionales

2) Enseñar y apoyar el uso del ORCID iD

4) Utilizar el ORCID iD (y otros PIDs) con fines de ASEO
